This remarkable and monumental book at last provides a comprehensive answer to the age-old riddle of whether there are only a small number of 'basic stories' in the world. Using a wealth of examples, from ancient myths and folk tales via the plays and novels of great literature to the popular movies and TV soap operas of today, it shows that there are seven archetypal themes which recur throughout every kind of storytelling. But this is only the prelude to an investigation into how and why we are 'programmed' to imagine stories in these ways, and how they relate to the inmost patterns of human psychology. Drawing on a vast array of examples, from Proust to detective stories, from the Marquis de Sade to E.T., Christopher Booker then leads us through the extraordinary changes in the nature of storytelling over the past 200 years, and why so many stories have 'lost the plot' by losing touch with their underlying archetypal purpose. Booker analyses why evolution has given us the need to tell stories and illustrates how storytelling has provided a uniquely revealing mirror to mankind's psychological development over the past 5000 years. This seminal book opens up in an entirely new way our understanding of the real purpose storytelling plays in our lives, and will be a talking point for years to come.

Following her first book, There's a Huge Pimple on My Nose-which the Los Angeles Times praised: "If you simply want to enjoy some remarkable writing, it's hard to find a book more satisfying than Dallas Woodburn's"-this teen phenomenon's second collection of short stories, 3 a.m., is already receiving high praise: "Woodburn is a very gifted writer whose work celebrates the beauty and humor of everyday life. She is able to merge different cultures and generations in a thought-provoking and lovely way." -Laurie Stolarz, award-winning author of Blue is for Nightmares series "The writing is so wonderful you'll want to stay up reading until 3 a.m.!" -Julia McGuire, The Hudson Valley Literary Magazine "An emotionally resonant collection, dealing with the universal themes of identity, grief and love-with a little bit of humor thrown in as well. Dallas helps you recognize and appreciate the finer things in life." -Catherine Clark, best-selling author of Truth or Dairy "Woodburn's writing shines with both humor and poignancy. Her skillfully developed stories have amazing versatility. With characters that are human and tangible and extremely likeable-and details that make them come alive in a vivid

Good Feeling is a collection of seven related short stories by Francois Pointeau. "Why is the sky so bright and sunny and blue and expansive? Am I in a different time zone? It could be that my studio changed location, took the train to a different city. You shut yourself in for days on end, turn off the telephone, shut the blinds, blind the shutters, you don't know what can happen. Anything. There are no rules. I don't care what anybody else says." Frank Needles, the hero of these tales, isn't sure if he's completely mad, or if the world around him is completely mad. Frank isn't sure about anything, except for that last thing, the one thing."

A companion to Bigger Than a Bread Box finds Annie bewildered by her angry grandmother before traveling through time to her grandmother's childhood in the 1930s, where she struggles to change events for the better only to risk her own existence.

Ryoko Kui, the master storyteller behind the beloved manga series Delicious in Dungeon, pens seven brand-new tales that will delight fantasy fans and manga devotees equally. Covering a broad range of themes and time periods, no two stories in this collection are alike!
