The Power Broker: Robert Moses and the Fall of New York is a 1974 biography of Robert Moses by Robert Caro. The book focuses on the creation and use of power in local and state politics, as witnessed through Moses' use of unelected positions to design and implement dozens of highways and bridges, sometimes at great cost to the communities he nominally served.

After being abruptly pardoned by a lame duck president, a notorious former Washington powerbroker is released from prison and smuggled out of the country, given a new identity, and hidden in a small town in Italy, but old enemies from the past are out to destroy him and his new life. Reprint. 35,000 first printing.

Denise Williams is one of the youngest African Americans in the United States to serve as Founder/CEO of a real estate brokerage firm. In this book, she peels back the curtain and shares some of the most sought-after success secrets in the business, allowing an inside look at what it took for her to journey from small-town poverty to scaling repeatable profits in one of the nation's most competitive markets. As the Owner and Qualifying Broker of Williams and Co. International Realty, Denise recalls her early life as the middle child in a household of eight. Her family struggled to make ends meet, but at 11 years old Denise decided that she would one day control her own financial destiny, despite whatever odds she may face in the uncharted territory ahead. This once small-town star went on to attain a BA in Finance from Valdosta State University. She then took it a step further and obtained a Dual MBA in International Business and Supply Chain/Logistics Management, while mothering a young son and closing real estate deals between classes. Denise sold millions of dollars of estate as an agent, but for her, sales alone were not enough. She acquired her broker's license and went on to manage a start-up real estate firm, which under her leadership grew to 75+ agents in its first year. Denise has personally trained 125+ agents and has coordinated agent services at one of the largest real estate firms in the world. Now, as the head instructor at CEOwner Academy, she has mapped out a proven blueprint to show newly licensed Brokers and experienced Agents who desire to start their own teams how to dominate their market(s) and build Breakout Brokerages. Her system can be used throughout the country, and she is quickly becoming the go-to expert for training and development in the real estate industry. WINNER of the Best First Novel 2018 Award at the International Thriller Writers Awards. The first in a brand new series featuring Thea Paris, a kidnap and ransom specialist. Lee Child calls THE FREEDOM BROKER a 'superb thriller', Lisa Gardner says it's 'clever and gritty' and Peter James calls it 'spellbinding'. If you like the thrillers of James Patterson and Lee Child, or are a fan of Jason Bourne, you will love this. At eight years old, Thea Paris watched her brother being snatched from his bed. Her inability to save him has haunted both their lives ever since. Twenty years later, the unthinkable happens when her billionaire father is abducted. But this time, she is prepared. Now, Thea is at the top of her game as a freedom broker, negotiating for

Have you ever imagined what your practice would be like if you only spent time with prospects that are highly-qualified, highly-motivated and who already have a favorable impression of you? If you are like most producers, selling becomes so much easier when you are talking to these types of prospects. Unfortunately, far too often, producers are spending their time begging for appointments with prospects that are not qualified and have no motivation to take action. These meetings lead to frustration for both the producer and the so-called prospect. In this book, Chris Carlson & Mike Cogdall will reveal how to create an insurance practice that will result in all of your prospects being predisposed to wanting to buy from you. By establishing yourself as the Disability Insurance Specialist for other organizations and producers, you can create the most profitable practice in the Financial Services Industry.

This book is about putting the free back in free enterprise. A broker, agent, commissioned salesman/advisor is one of the few remaining vehicles left where a person can call the shots. I penned this to honor that noblest of professions: sales. This treatise is for the broker, salesman, advisor, and agent in any industry, who is interested in transforming his practice. I will lay a foundation for building the business; it is to serve as a road map, showing how to double production in half the time and effort. The information that you are about to be exposed to is the result of studying successful people for thirty years and is distilled wisdom of the ages on how the enlightened command huge incomes in all market cycles. Every man who works for someone else dreams about going on his own. After about ten years in the rut system, many decide to take a leap and do something solo and step right out of the pot, into the fire. The deck is stacked against small business, because most are undercapitalized and more significantly, lack the knowledge. There is no other small business than that of a broker with a lower startup cost or higher potential income. This book will give you the knowledge to make it on your own.

Moses is pictured as idealist reformer, and political manipulator as his rise to power and eventual domination of New York State politics is documented

Scientists have a choice concerning what role they should play in political debates and policy formation, particularly in terms of how they present their research. This book is about understanding this choice, what considerations are important to think about when deciding, and the consequences of such choices for the individual scientist and the broader scientific enterprise. Rather than prescribing what course of action each scientist ought to take, the book aims to identify a range of options for individual scientists to consider in making their own judgments about how they would like to position themselves in relation to policy and politics. Using examples from a range of scientific controversies and thought-provoking analogies from other walks of life, The Honest Broker challenges us all - scientists, politicians and citizens - to think carefully about how best science can contribute to policy-making and a healthy democracy.

#1 NEW YORK TIMES BESTSELLER In his final hours in office, the outgoing President grants a controversial last-minute pardon to Joel Backman, a notorious Washington power broker who has spent the last six years hidden away in a federal prison. What no one knows is that the President issues the pardon only after receiving enormous pressure from the CIA. It seems that Backman, in his heyday, may have obtained secrets that compromise the world's most sophisticated satellite surveillance system. Backman is quietly smuggled out of the country in a military cargo plane, given a new name, a new identity, and a new home in Italy. Eventually, after he has settled into his new life, the CIA will leak his whereabouts to the Israelis, the Russians, the Chinese, and the Saudis. Then the CIA will do what it does best: sit back and watch. The question is not whether Backman will survive—there is no chance of that. The question the CIA needs answered is, Who will kill him?

Real estate has long been a relationship business basically a baby boomer model and due to significant changes in the consumer, the industry will no longer be able to thrive and prosper on this basis alone. The consumer is mistrustful and skeptical and the relationship will not stand alone as a way to secure business going forward it will be based on a combination of relationships and verifiable skills with the emphasis on skills. Compound this with the worst downturn since the great depression, a seemingly jobless recovery and tight lending standards we are the midst of great challenges for the future of our businesses. In all of this, there is great opportunity for real estate companies. The opportunity exists for companies to move away from an agent centered universe to a consumer centered one and to be of service to the consumer in ways the consumer wants and needs and is willing to pay for. Bottom line we have to get better at what we do. It is all here the way back to profit. Roll up your sleeves, be willing to relearn things you thought you already knew, change real estate service delivery as you know it and prosper!
