Timeline of American Involvement in Wars
The military history of the United States spans a period of over two centuries. During those years, the United States evolved from a newly formed nation fighting Great Britain for independence (1775–1783), through the monumental American Civil War (1861–1865) and, after collaborating in triumph with the Allies during World War II (1941–1945), to world superpower from the late 20th century to present.

The Cold War was an ongoing political rivalry between the United States and the Soviet Union and their respective allies that developed after World War II. This hostility between the two superpowers was first given its name by George Orwell in an article published in 1945. Orwell understood it as a nuclear stalemate between "super-states": each possessed weapons of mass destruction and was capable of annihilating the other.
